Best in Conference Musicians To Give Concert Next Thursday

Next Thursday, April 11, approximately 450 of the best high school musicians that the seven high schools in the Southwest Suburban Conference have to offer will meet at Evergreen Park high school to take part in the annual conference music festival.

Rehearsals will be held Thursday evening and Friday afternoon, building to a climax in a public concert at 8 o'clock Friday evening. This concert will be held in the Evergreen Park high school gym.

Lincoln-Way area music lovers who attended the festival concert last year in the Lincoln-Way gym, will remember an enjoyable evening of fine music presented by a select band and chorus under the able direction of Paul Yoder and Tom Williams respectively. This year's concert promises to be even better than those of former years, and will again feature two outstanding music educators as guest conductors. Walter Rodby, choral director in the Joliet township high school will direct the choir of 300 voices, while Robert Mayer, former oboe and English hornist with the Chicago Symphony, will direct the 125 piece band.

The Lincoln-Way music department will be ably represented with 45 students in the chorus and 18 in the band. The concert Friday evening will be concluded with the presentation of an original number for band and chorus written by Jerry Myrow, Bernard F. Kuby, and Alfred B. Engelhard all of Park Forest. This number which they call "March of Freedom" is being presented for the first time on this concert and is still in manuscript form.

Tickets for the concert may be obtained from any Lincoln-Way band or chorus member, or purchased at the door.

See Re-election Of Meade Baltz As County Chairman

Meade Baltz, Republican, was re-elected supervisor of Joliet township in Tuesday's town election and as a result observers recast his re-election as chairman of the county board, a post he has held for the past three years.

The entire Republican ticket won in Joliet, the closest race being that for assessor. James M. Blood, who has served many years as an assistant supervisor from Joliet, defeated Michael L. O'Brien, Democrat who has held the office of assessor for two terms.

John Rogers, Republican, former highway commissioner, defeated Robert F. Feeney, Democrat, for town clerk.

Collector Post In Green Garden Goes to Woman

There was but one contest in the town elections in the area. Four candidates were in the race for collector in Green Garden and the winner was Mrs. Vernice Wilke, who polled 101 votes. Her nearest opponent, Martin Gast, received 78 votes. The others in the contest were, Mrs. Richard Borms, 48 votes, and Albert A. Piggush, 27. Mrs. Wilke will succeed Walter Bauer who has served as collector for 20 years. Mr. Bauer decided he had worked long enough at the task and was not a candidate.

Frederick Gast was elected clerk in Green Garden. He polled 228 votes.

Other winners in that township and their vote, were:

Carl O. Topper, assessor, 224. Clinton Mark and Richard Borms were elected justices of the peace, Mark with 224 and Borms with 217 votes.

Reuben Smidt, with 229 votes, and Maynard Werner, with 225 votes, were elected constables.

There was a total of 259 votes cast.

There was no supervisor to be chosen this spring.

In Frankfort township there was no opposition. The total vote cast was 171, of which 63 were

Baptists To Hear Men, Women From Foreign Missions

The Calvary Baptists church, of Lincoln Estate and the Park View Baptists church, of Mokena will hold missionary conferences this Sunday, April 7.

At Calvary Baptist Mrs. Andrew Nelson, missionary to Cebu, Philippine Islands, will speak and show pictures of the work there at 10:45 a.m. Miss Petty Person, missionary to Tespur, Assam, India, will speak and show pictures of the work in that field, at 8 p.m.

In the Park View Baptist church the Rev. DeWayne Winterlind, of Argentina, will be the speaker at the 11 a.m. service and the Rev. Paul Edwards, of India, at the 7 p.m. service.

These missionary services are held under the auspices of the Baptist General Conference of America.

The village of Mokena moved another step toward the building of a sewer system with the announcement at the village board meeting Tuesday night that an option has been taken on a site for the sewage disposal plant site.

The plant is to be located on the Mac Bottema property at the northeast corner of the Sunny Acres subdivision, about a mile from the village. The piece to be purchased by the village has a frontage of 415 feet on Wolf road and extends west for 346 feet.

A group from the Sunny Acres Home Owners association attended the meeting to make inquiries regarding the plant site. Robert Hamilton, the village engineer who designed the plant and the sewer system, and Village Attorney Ray Hollehan, assured the people that the plant would not be offensive or unsightly.

Mokena is to use what is called a vacuum filter system, Hamilton said. Under such a system, he added, gases are not produced. Provisions will be made to chlorinize the liquid discharged from the plant into the drainage ditch, thus killing bacteria that might cause offensive odors, especially in a dry summer when little water was passing thru.

The site is large enough, it was explained, to meet any future need of additional tanks. The tanks will not rise more than four to six feet above ground and by means of landscaping the site will not offend the eye.

The collection and disposal sections will be housed in a building patterned after ranch type homes so the plant will blend with the rest of the area.

The plant is being built of sufficient size to serve areas outside the corporate limit, it was explained. Village Attorney Hollehan pointed out that village officials do not want the plant to be offensive to any group of citizens and for that reason a special design was adopted.

The delegation from Sunny Acres left the meeting apparently well satisfied. Location of the plant on the chosen site, it was pointed out, would make it easier for property owners of Sunny Acres to avail themselves of the sewer system at some future date.

Attorney Hoolehan also announced that arrangements will

Angland to Address Mokena Firemen

Maurice Angland, who writes on business and finance for The Sunmler Press, is to be the speaker at the meeting of the Mokena volunteer fire department next Tuesday night, April 9. The firemen meet in the VFW hall on Wolf road.

Records of the department show that from January 1 to March 31, firemen answered one inhalator call and 17 fire calls. Twelve of the fire alarms were the result of grass fires. There were two house fires, an automobile fire and a blaze on a well-drilling rig.

Mokena Grade School to Present Second Annual Operetta April 12

The Mokena grade school will present its second annual spring operetta, April 12, in the school gym. "Puddin' Head the First," a rollicking musical playlet in two acts, will be presented by the 6th, 7th and 8th grades. Curtain time will be 8 o'clock.

A comedy, featuring King Puddin' Head, otherwise known as Puddin' Head the Very, Very Simple, promises to keep the audience well entertained as the three members of the king's cabinet, General Quakinboots, Count Pennypincher, and Doctor Pillstuffer, attempt to outwit their King only to have their efforts thwarted by Marianne and a common jester with a magic rubby that can be seen only by the king and the good.

Toby Turnkey, also known as Toby the Strange, promises to keep the audience well entertained as he is commanded by the king to lock himself in jail for allowing the prisoner, Prince Roland, to escape.

The following students are participating in the operetta: Bob Mancke, Linda Troxel, Michael Sheridan, Joe Kruzich, John Kropp, Bill Sluis, Patsy King, Marilyn Ambuehl, Paul Machalek, George Schwartz and Mark Muehler. Other members of the 6th, 7th and 8th grades are participating in the chorus and as dancers.

Tickets may be purchased from members of the choir or at the door.

Abe Lincoln's firelight reading habits may not have been as bad as they sound. Glare often is actually more of a strain than insufficient light. The ideal reading situation is a 100-watt light about 20 inches from the page, with its light coming over the shoulder. Murine Company studies show. Glare from wrongly placed lights, shiny walls, glass, highly glazed paper or other sources should be avoided.

An investiture was held for five new members, Antoinette Weidner, Barbara Worel, Paula Nardoni, LaVerne Hynous and Evelyn Stokes. Plans are being made for an outdoor picnic as soon as weather will permit. The girls are busily engaged making sit-upons in anticipation of this outing. As a fund raising project, a bake sale has been planned for the near future. Mrs. Meri Anderson and Mrs. Florence Ver Wey are the leaders of the troop.

Lorrie Hedinger, Edi-Lu Kent and Andrea Manke were invested March 27 in Brownie troop 333. Visitors at the investiture ceremony were Mrs. Peter Ellement and her daughter Kathleen, Barbara Manning and Nancy Zima. The girls have been hemming and embroidering towels, making brooches and wall plaques. Mrs. Charles McCutchen and Mrs. Lowell Farquhar are the leaders of this troop.

Summer Day Camps

The South Cook County Girl Scout day camp committee has completed its plans for the 1957 day camp program. The day camp committee, Mrs. Edward Spooner, Homewood, chairman and Mrs. Robert Dingman, assistant chairman, has been working for weeks to prepare everything. A new site has been added to take care of the larger number of girls registered. The more than 50 towns in south Cook county have been reallocated to relieve the load on the sites that were overloaded last year.

Each of these sites located in Cook county forest preserves has a site chairman a member of the day camp committee to prepare things for that camp. They are as follows: Crooked Creek East, Mrs. Scruggs Colvin of Evergreen Park; Crooked Creek est, none as yet; Glenwood Woods, Mrs. Henry Stokes of Pottawatomie Hills; Jurgensen Woods, Mrs. Malcolm Small of Riverdale; Sweet Woods South, Mrs. Donald Withers, of Chicago Heights; Schubert's Woods, Mrs. John Musengo, of Park Forest; Tinley Creek Woods, Mrs. Allen Schwartz of Alsip.

Dates for the day camps are the same for all sites—first session will be June 18, 19, 20, 25 and 26 and 27. Second session will be July 9, 10, 11, 16, 17 and 18. Each camp site will have a staff of one director, one assistant director, one nurse, one supply chairman and 20 unit staff members.

The council needs more volunteers who are interested in Girl Scouts and would fill some of these positions. Anyone who has a keen interest in girls, a liking for the outdoors and a willingness to learn can obtain an application blank from any of the site chairmen named above.

To start the staff's preparation for this camping season, a series of forest preserve field trips are scheduled for April 11, 18 and 25. Those going on the trips will meet at the Girl Scout office at Harvey where the Forest Preserve bus will be waiting at 9:30. It will return about 3:00 p.m. Each day the groups will go to a different place and study different things in nature under the guidance of a really fine naturalist. Wild flowers, shrubs, trees, water life and birds are some of the interesting things that will be studied.

Await Final O.K. in Area Zoning Cases

Recommendations of the Will county zoning board of appeals allowing requested changes include several pieces of property in this area.

The board of supervisors which has final decision on zoning cases is expected to act on these recommendations later this month.

One of them is the request of Mrs. Adeline O'Daniel for B-1 classification for property on the north side of U. S. 30, a mile east of the Wabash tracks in New Lenox township, for a motel. Two motel owners in the general area objected, saying that business does not warrant another motel there. Mrs. O'Daniel was represented by Attorney Donald Tracy.

Ronald A. Crisman was granted a B-1 for a real estate office at the northeast corner of U. S. 30 and Marley road, about a mile east of New Lenox.

A B-1 for a gas station on the north side of Francis road on the second lot west of Cedar st., New Lenox, was recommended. Sheldon Hauck, a member of the zoning board of appeals, did not vote on this case nor take any part in the discussion.

The appeal board also approved a B-1 for a grocery store at the southeast corner of U. S. 30 and 95th street, Lincoln Estates, Frankfort township. He was allowed a 100-foot setback off the road to permit parking in front.

An upside-down world would be confusing to all of us and perhaps that's the reason for a few of our babies' squalls and tantrums. A new born baby sees things upside down, and sees separately with each eye, researchers for the Murine Company report. It takes six to eight weeks for a baby to see; before this time all vision is blurred.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to express my grateful thanks to everyone for their many acts of kindness and sympathy extended at the time of the death of my beloved husband. I especially want to thank those who sent flowers and memorials; to the Rev. Ray Hamer, the pall bearers, and the singer, Daniel Sass. I am most grateful to the Marti brothers and others who helped with the sale and to those who sent food, everything is deeply appreciated.

MRS. STANLEY COE, Marley

Over the years, obedient children have been taught to look up to their teachers. Actually, it would be better, in a physical sense, if they were permitted to look down upon them. The child would benefit if they were seated in their classrooms so as to be above the teachers. Turning the eyes upward causes more eye fatigue than looking down.

Just Batting The Breeze

Many of the people who pay real estate tax bills are unfamiliar with the methods used to determine the amount of their tax. Information about your tax bill issued by the Illinois Education Association, Research Department in Springfield may illuminate the tax picture for you.

"The valuation on your real estate tax bill is fixed by the Cook County assessor and his staff. The rate of taxation is made up by the county clerk in Chicago from the tax levy of each municipality in the township. The school directors of each district and the officials of the villages, cities township and park districts thruout the township determine the amount of each needed for the succeeding year. Their official statement or tax levy with this information is then sent to the county clerk in Chicago. He assembles these various rates for the villages, schools, cities, etc., and determines what the total rate is in each school district in the township and this rate is then used against your assessed valuation making the total of your tax bill.

The county collects and the township collector have nothing whatever to do with the fixing of the valuation or determining the rate which is used to show the amount of tax appearing on your bill. The collectors office has no authority to change your tax bill in any way whatever, except as to name and address of the party who pays the bill.

If your tax bill is unsatisfactory you have a right to go to the Board of Appeals Room 337, County Building, Chicago, and state your case. If there has been any error, they will correct it."

Raymond Pieper, village attorney, wishes he had more time to spend on his hobby, which is building scale model trains. A carry-over from his youth; he started building model trains over 20 years ago and still finds it interesting and fascinating.

Another local model train enthusiast is Dick Rabenau. The men belong to an organization composed of brother hobbyists.

Incidentally, Dick's wife, Carol, is an artist. Give her a photograph and she can capture an unbelievable likeness of the subject. Carol, who loves to draw, recently has copied photographs of two young men prominent in the life of this columnist. The drawings will always be one of my prized possessions.

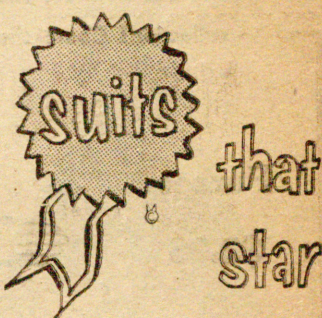

To the many people complaining about the poor condition of Tinley streets, -- they are not being repaired because of lack of money. The budget for streets has been overdrawn. Recently, trustees voted to use a portion of the sales tax refund money for street repairs. Joseph McCarthy, chairman of road and bridge, has reported $1500 more will be needed in this fund before the end of the fiscal year. Mayor Frank Jeffords has said repair of streets should be held in abeyance until the village is ready to install the sewer system, when all of the streets will have to be torn up.

Why is it some public servants think the public is a nuisance. An example is an emergency call made last week to the state hospital being constructed on the outskirts of the village, to try to locate one of the workers. The hello girl could give no information other than another number on the grounds. The unwilling giver of information on this line snapped when asked if he could not possibly be of more help, "have I not given you enough already?" The caller found number three lucky. The response on the third call to the grounds was polite and prompt attention was given to the inquiry.

Cannot Live Without Books, Says Pastor

(Editor's Note: The pastor of the Tinley Park Methodist Church expresses his views on "Why the Community Needs a Library".)

By

THE REV. GLENN AMES

The greatest man who ever lived once said, "Man shall not live by bread alone." In a very real sense, we do not live by bread, but by books. The Book of Life is essentially necessary for all. The mere presence of books in the home or library however is not of itself a guarantee of culture. It is not the possession of books, but the knowledge of their content that enriches us. One person might own finely-bound copies of all the great books of the world, and still be intellectually poor. Another person, with a half-a-dozen books could become an intellectual leader. An individual or community without them can hardly expect to progress beyond a barbarian culture. Books are the recorded experiences of individuals representing the entire cultural pattern of society. We must have them to live. We may exist but we can never live without them.

Lord Maculey once wrote, "If anyone would make me the greatest king that ever lived, with palaces and gardens and fine dinners and wines and coaches and beautiful clothes, and hundreds of servants, on condition that I could not read books, I would not be a king. I would rather be a poor man in a garret with plenty of books than a king who did not love reading."

Reading and studying in good books is like the championship of the greatest minds of the ages. Blessed is the child who learns to read good books for he shall have companionship as long as he lives. It may be possible, though it is admittedly difficult, to possess an inner life of thought and contemplation without books. Certainly it is impossible to cultivate the graces and to be fully civilized without their aid.

I once read of a report by The Book Manufacturers' Institute stating that 27% of all American homes have less than fifty books. No doubt most of these books are of a fictional nature written by little known or unrecognized authors. No attempt is being made to discredit little-known authors. However, book clubs throughout America have occasionally infested homes with worthless pieces of literature. We sometimes have to stretch our imaginations to the breaking point in order to classify some pieces of literature as being books.

I suppose we are all disposed to fib and fake prodigiously concerning the "good" books we have read. In answer to the perennial query, "What volume, aside from the Holy Scriptures, would you choose if you were marooned on a desert island?" We are pretty sure to pick some ponderous work into which we have never found time to glance. It sounds so impeccably intellectual. But, to my way of thinking, the most sensible answer to this question—if, indeed, there is any sensible answer—was made by perpetrator of paradoxes to whom I have just referred. "In such a situation," said G. K. Chesterton, "I should choose 'Thomas' Guide to Practical Shipbuilding.'" But where, I ask you can you find such a book outside the public library?

The truth of course, is that there is a time, a place, a mood for most every type of book. We may even appreciate the feeling of the elderly matron who sought "a nice novel to read while knitting and looking at television," or even Junior who was "looking for an appropriate comic book to look at while I do my arithmetic." Having a good library will afford us the privilege and ability to satisfy those tantalizing moods with book most of us cannot afford in such assortment.

Furthermore, high on the list for needs for children is adventure. The child will fill this wholesome need with good literature if readily available from the library and if he is properly encouraged and guided. Where can he go to satisfy this need if books are not afforded him at home, but to the community public library.

A well-planned community has well planned library facilities. Books more than anything else open up the world to inquiring minds. A person without books, someone has said, is almost without windows to his small world.

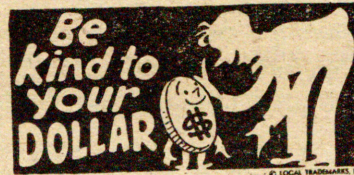

There is, of course, little evidence to support the common assumption that reading of itself is of value. People can be just as trivial and inconsequential, and just as decadent, in reading as in doing anything else. Nevertheless, worth while reading is a vital part of a total cultural process. Men and women, boys and girls, as a rule do not "take naturally" to good reading, any more than they naturally have discipline and skill in any other field. Supplying books is only the first step. But, it is a very necessary step.

Beginning with the actual interest and understanding of people, and gradually building substantial intellectual interests, is a great art. The existing interest may be in growing grass or a garden, in making clothes, or in a community co-operative. Whatever that interest may be, much will have been written about it. A lot of valuable time is lost in unnecessary experimentation. Most often someone else has done that work for us and left record of his results. Look it up in your library, read about it. Skillful librarians can use our interests to help broaden our outlook and help us develop an appetite for good literature. Intellectual progression, personal peace and poise can almost be assured us if the proper exposure to the facilities a library affords are made available to us all.

I therefore feel that to delay the provisions for a community library is to hinder our own progress as well as to thwart the proper intellectual growth of our children.

A Christmas Card in the Spring . . . Tra-la!

How does that go now—if winter comes then spring, or is it when spring arrives remember winter is still in there pitching. Well, it doesn't make any difference what the poets says about the seasons. Just keep in mind that in these latitudes we usually have two seasons, winter and summer, with brief periods between in which it isn't as warm or as cold as it will be later. It is also a good bet, after looking over the weather records, that the prospects of snow in the spring are better than on Christmas eve. Thanks to the near blizzard last week the Elmer Bartling family at 17031 Oak Park ave., Tinley Park, now has a good picture to use in having a Christmas card made for this year. Wouldn't that be something, to get your Christmas cards and have them all addressed, say by June. Of course, if they wait until June they probably can get a picture showing the snow as much deeper—say clear up to the porch. (Tinley Times Photo)

The Hoover-Byrd Economy Block.

Despite the Hoover-Byrd economy preachments during recent years, not much has been done to cut down Federal expenditures or to streamline the government departments to bring about more efficiency and economy in government. But the work of the Hoover-Byrd economy block is now bringing results in the shape of a flood of protest mail from back home.

The $10 billion cut in the Truman Budget for 1952 that was made by the Eisenhower Administration during its first two years in office has now been placed back in the Federal budget, and the trend is for bigger and bigger budgets.

As a result of the $72 billion budget now before Congress—which does not include the $15 billion for roads nor the $10 billion for Social Security programs (resulting in an actual cash budget of $83.5 billion)—the people are finally in rebellion over excessive Federal spending and an excessive, impossible Federal tax burden. The people's own budget-shoe is pinching pretty hard, making life uncomfortable for the head of every working father in America.

When we take into account that excessive government spending and excessive taxes are the chief causes for the high prices the consumer has to pay today, is it any wonder that a flood of mail against high spending, high taxes and high prices is pouring into Washington every day?

In 1946 the average per capita tax for the support of the Federal government was $136.46 per person or $545.84 per family. By 1956 that figure had soared to $446.86 per person, or $1,787.44 per family.

Will congress wield the economy axe in response to the present flood of protests? The chickens are coming home to roost on the shoulders of the congressional spenders in Washington. They are not resting upon the shoulders of your congressman.

Is a Tax Revolt Developing?

Congressional mail reflects the feeling "back home." When one-third of a congressman's mail is made up of rumblings and grumblings over the immense federal spending and the consequent extremely heavy tax load piled upon the American taxpayers, perhaps a real tax revolt is developing—and it is past time for it to develop.

Today our people pay twice as much in taxes as they did in 1950, and eight times as much as they did in 1940. No wonder the American taxpayers are grumbling as never before. They have good reason to do so.

In 1940 federal, state and local taxes amounted to only $14.2 billion—federal, $5.6 billion; state $4.1 billion; and local, $4.5 bil-

In 1950 federal, state, and local taxes amounted to $60 billion about $1.00 out of every $4.00 of the national income.

Next year our tax collectors—federal, state and local—propose to collect $119 billion from individuals and corporations. That means $1 out of every $3 of our expected national income will go into the hands of the tax collector.

The tax load has become impossible to bear. Something should be done immediately to lighten the tax load.

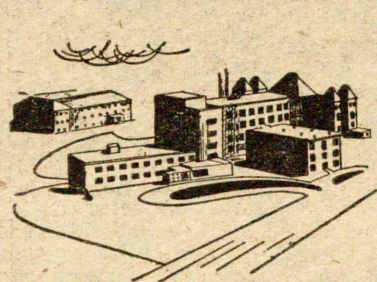

Has the Administration Gone Wild?

The Bureau of the Budget has notified the house Civil Service subcommittee that the Administration plans to increase the federal civilian payroll by 105,000 employees between now and next June. The civilian payroll at present has 2,400,000 employees on its rolls, and the yearly payroll amounts to $10.5 billion.

During Eisenhower's first four year term the federal civilian payroll was reduced by some 160,000 employees. If the present plan to add 105,000 new employees during the next few months is carried out, it will indicates that the federal civilian payroll will soon be greater than it was four years ago when Ike took over. Is that what the voters expected to happen when they voted to re-elect Ike last fall? What about the campaign

Everyone that owns a home carries some form of fire policy on the structure usually because the mortgage holder requires this protection for his own account. In our solicitations, it is surprising to learn the complete opposite exists as respects household contents. A recent article stated that one out of every four families have little or no insurance on their personal belongings. It hardly seems possible that persons will permit themselves to be unprotected when you consider that insurance can be had in Tinley Park for as little as $2.90 a thousand per year.

FOR THE YOUNG AT HEART

Now You See It . . . Now You Don't

Now you see it—now you don't was part of the patter of medicine show magicians and is so applicable here because it so well describes the bewildering magic of spring. Such a season—we freeze, we bake, we freeze some more—we contend with rain, hail, snow, sleet and tornados but yet we always look forward to it with the optimistic but vain hope that it will be an old-fashioned spring—you know like you read about in books, soft breezes, fleecy clouds, budding flowers, green meadows and just pleasantly warm but not boiling hot. But perhaps our rapid change kind is best. At least it keeps us wondering. The pictures shown here were taken last week. The one of the two young ladies up the tree there is something about spring that makes the young want to run and play and climb trees—was taken on a Saturday. The other picture—Mrs. Ray Sullivan of 6512 Riverside Drive, Tinley Park—with snow shovel in hand was taken on a Monday, two days later, when spring had fled giving place to winter again and a near blizzard. The two young misses in the tree are Barbara Smith (left) and Donna Bruce, of Mokena. But if you think spring's switch bothered them, think again. Sure, climbing trees is fun—but so is the snow. Ah, youth! Ah Spring! (Semmler Press Photo)

Even your best driving companion might cast a questioning look in your direction if you declared that your eyeballs were vibrating and your sight blurred. But even if your conscience is clear and your health good, such things can happen—at least when you're riding in a car. According to the eye sight study, your eyesight just is not as keen as usual when you are riding in a car or bus. The vehicle's vibrations are transferred to the eyes, causing an imperceptible blur which helps create eye fatigue.

A bluish aggregate light enough to float in water has been developed by Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of echnology, Chicago. Lower freight costs thus made possible may bring brick construction into competition with frame buildings.

The nation is short 160,000 classrooms for public school students, according to a recent study.

Claim County Distribution of Auto Licenses is Too Costly

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter today presented two reports by independent agencies to the house committee on motor vehicles and traffic regulation urging retention of Illinois' present centralized system of distributing motor vehicle license plates.

The reports were prepared by Alexander Grant & Co., certified public accountants of Chicago, which studied costs of a proposed county distribution system, and the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

The Alexander Grant survey included three general conclusions:

1. The present method of distributing motor vehicle license plates in Illinois appears superior to other methods from the three fold point of view of economy of distribution, control of funds, and reliability of registration records.

2. Distribution of plates thru facilities in every county is economically unsound because of the disproportionately high costs that would prevail in a large number of counties that have relatively small numbers of motor vehicle registrations.

3. Any decentralized operations should be in charge of persons who are directly responsible to the central office in order to maintain effective audit control and reporting."

The Alexander Grant survey also estimated that a county distribution system would cost an additional $1,121,700 a year.

The A.A.M.V.A. report said, "Illinois at the present time operates a system that has merit in the fact that control is centralized."

"This makes possible the elimination of costly intermediate operations that contribute nothing to accuracy, efficiency or service to the public," it continued.

The report listed eight advantages of the present system. They are: Direct dealing between the headquarters issuing office and the applicant; photographic accuracy of all records, providing positive means of identification; elimination of personnel transcription errors; elimination of duplication of checking and auditing; simplicity of procedure production line method of processing documents and records; eliminating necessity of citizens standing in line to procure plates, and low unit cost because of elimination of field operations.

and powerful equipment to assure thorough coverage of both topsides and undersides of the leaves are a must. On bigger trees, such a job is beyond the scope of most week-end gardeners. So it's a good idea to call in qualified professionals before it's too late.

Unless checked, the fast-growing beetle population can strip trees of their foliage. The female elm leaf beetle, lays as many as 500 eggs in May and June. DDT spraying prior to this egg-laying can avert much arboreal trouble. In some sections, notably New York and New England, there is a partial second brood in August. Further south, two full generations and a partial third one sometimes occur.

This winger criminal is deadly enough on its own. To make matters worse, the trees it weakens by defoliation are sitting ducks for invasion by elm bark beetles, carriers of Dutch elm disease.

Appetite Leads Elm Leaf Beetle To Its Doom

The peculiar table manners of one insectdom's most vicious tree killers make him vulnerable to chemical attack.

He is the elm leaf beetle, a glutton that feeds only on the undersides of leaves. As soon as buds unfold, this beetle begins chomping away at his favorite elm greenery, according to M. J. Hooper, field representative of the Davey Trees Expert Co.

Before damage gets out of hand, DDT spraying can nip the elm leaf beetle invasion in the bud. But spraying know-how

HARWOOD STELLWAGEN,
Clerk

March 28, April 4, 1957.

To the Voters of Tinley Park

My name is Andrew S. Plattis. I have been living at 6649 Hubbard Lane Drive for the past 7 years. I am a member of the Tinley Park Chamber of Commerce, member of the Tinley Park Fire Dept. for the past 5 years and I am a member of the Zion Lutheran Church. I am a Painting and Decorating Contractor.

I have filed my petition for the office of Trustee for the 2 year term. I am not seeking office just for the title of Trustee. I am seeking it for the betterment of the community, to the best of my ability. There is no selfish motive in my seeking office. A taxpayer and as such, I like to know what is being done with my taxes. Feeling this way, I feel that every member of this community would like to have the answers to the same questions.

Sewage is one of our main problems. We all agree that it is needed. With the sewage installed, we know that our health problem will be solved. Water will drain away, providing the storm sewers are cleaned I asked a village official two years ago if the storm sewers had ever been cleaned and to his knowledge they had never been. Why they have never been cleaned at least once a year is beyond me. I have checked at least a half dozen sewers and found them in a sad condition.

Without the proper drainage our roads will never get better. Some of our holes now existing, if not taken care of immediately, will take us to China.

Tho I have no children of my own, I can see the great need for adequate schools. When my wife and I moved to Tinley Park, there were just about 1100 people here. Today that figure has reached 4000 which means those youngsters that were 1 or 2 years old when we came here are of school age plus the new children who moved here. Our old school has had an addition. We've built a new school for the lower grades and that has already had an addition. But tho we have to a large extent taken care of the grammar school age, our high school students have a great deal of traveling to do in order to continue their education. Tinley Park is very much in need of their own high school.

Many may say that all these aforementioned things are a vital necessity to the health and well being of our village, but! Where are we going to get money to do these things? That is where Light Industry would help the Village.

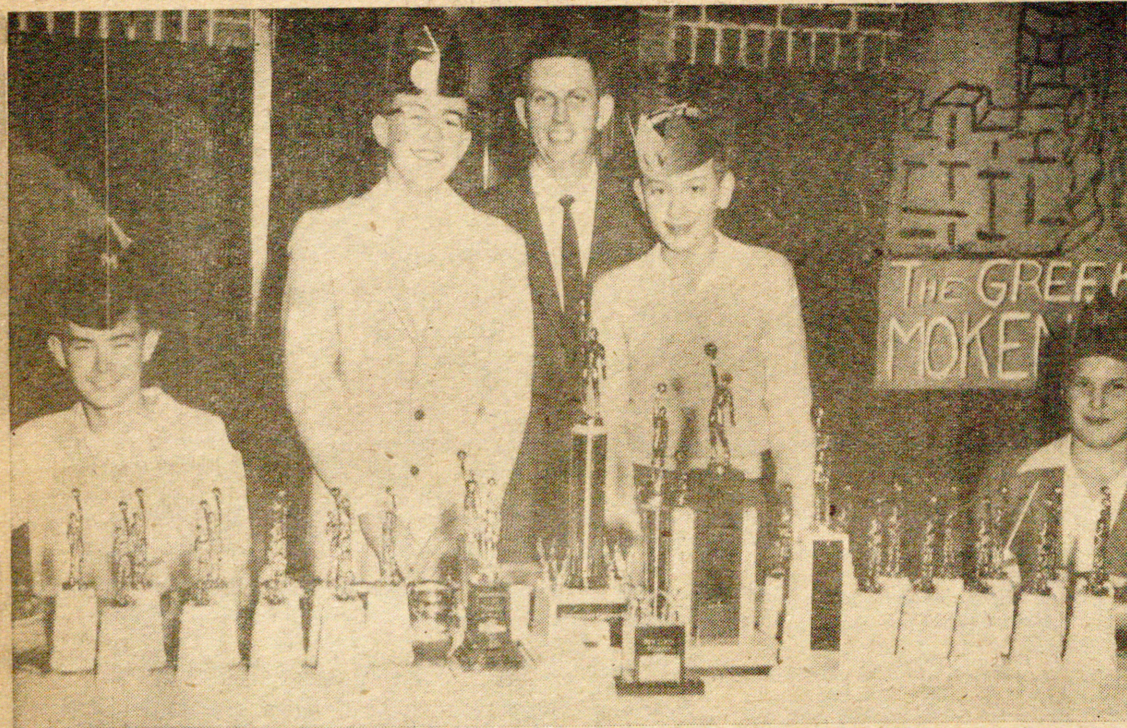

1. It would bring revenue to the village and by so doing would keep our taxes at a minimum.
2. It would provide work for our community, plus work for communities hereabouts.
3. It would mean added business for our retail merchants.

Don't forget to vote on April 16. It is your privilege as an American Citizen to elect the man you see fit for office. Let us all make Tinley Park a community that we can be proud of. If I am elected, I will use my own discretion and the common sense that God gave me to meet the problems that arise for the betterment of the people and community.

Mokena Grade School Athletes Receive Awards

The climax of an outstanding season was held at the Mokena Public School as the Annual P.T.A. Athletic Banquet was held in honor of the school's teams.

As a result of the outstanding record comprised by the basketball teams this year the event was designated as Champions Night. The boys of both the Lightweight and the Heavyweight teams wore silver and gold crowns as a sign that they were King for the evening and Rulers of the Conference. The tables were brightly decorated with the school colors, green and white. Basketballs were used as center pieces and each one had a face and wore a crown.

A crowd of close to two hundred people enjoyed the dinner and joined in the tribute paid to athletes. The Meteorites, or lightweights were Co-Champions of the Desplaines Valley Conference with a record of 10 victories and 2 losses. Their record over the whole season was 11 and 4.

The Meteors finished with the finest record in the history of the school. They captured the Conference title with an 11 and 1 record, the only loss being by 2 points. The Meteors also took First Place in the Taft Tourney in Lockport and First Place in the New Lenox Tourney. Their final season record was 18 and 1.

For Cook County
by W.F. Whiteside

assistant farm adviser

The appearance of liquid type fertilizers on the market has generated considerable discussion among farmers.

You can expect the same results with liquid fertilizers as with dry materials if the same amounts of actual nitrogen, phosphate (P2O5) and potash are put on per acre.

Present day liquid fertilizers are not as corrosive as the earlier liquids.

Water solubility of phosphate fertilizers is another well discussed topic. Except for rock phosphate and metaphosphate, most of the phosphates in general use by farmers are highly water soluble.

Even tho the rock and metaphosphates do not contain high amounts of water soluble phosphorus, they are still good buys for farmers, as they have always been.

Floyd Adair, Wade Palmer and Howard Miller, Jr., Chicago Heights, are going to reorganize the Bloom Aggies 4H club. The first meeting will be held April 5 at 8 pm. at the Floyd Adair residence. Former members and prospective members are invited to attend.

Reservations for Camp Shaw waw nas see are being taken right now. Camping date for Cook County 4H members is July 22-26. Reservations will close May 15.

The 4H Share the Fun Festival will be held May 14 at the Homewood Village Hall. Acts must register by May 2.

The 4H Public speaking contest will be held July 9 at the regular 4H Federation meeting.

Chippewa, a new, very early soybean, has been added to the Illinois recommended list. Producers in this area may want to try this variety.

You can help to prevent pullorum losses in your poultry flock by following these rules. Buy baby chicks only from pullorum tested flocks. Clean and disinfect brooder houses. Keep new chicks from contacting older birds. And, when chicks are ready for range place them on ground that has not been used by poultry for at least two years.

The University of Illinois has developed a new crop share farm lease. One feature of this lease that is of interest to landlords is an optional clause intended to clarify the landlord's social security status. This clause is part of a new section on management and business procedures.

If you employ farm labor this year, remember to keep careful records of the wages you pay. Canceled checks won't be enough. You'll need to keep the following record on all workers in 1957: name, social security number, wages paid, wages with held, and number of different days worked. The University of Illinois Farm Record Book has a special section for recording payments for labor. It can also be used for income tax records.

Don't forget to unblock the house foundation vents if you closed them up for winter. If crawl spaces under basementless houses are not ventilated, odors as well as damage from rot and termites may result.

Science Fair

All of the finishing touches are being placed on over one hundred student projects to be shown to the public at the second annual Sandburg high school Science Fair, Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the school gymnasium.

Since there are to be awards of first, second, and third place medals in three areas of the science projects, the science department of Sandburg has obtained the services of ten men having a great interest in high school science, to serve as judges. They are: Gordon Besch, chairman of the science department at Luther south high school; Heinz Nonnemann, chemist; Robert Cooper, engineer; F. J. Rodwick of the Cory corp.; H. Neil Hardy, chairman of the math and science departments at Lincoln-Way high school; Eugene Simaitis, physics student at the Illinois Institute of Technology; L. J. Nowlan, chemistry teacher, Oak Lawn high school; R. E. Janata, biology teacher at Rich township high school; and George Abraham, biology teacher at Lincoln-Way high school.

All of the science projects on exhibit constitute a great deal of individual work on the part of the student, and it is sincerely hoped that all of the members of the community will attend the fair, with the intention of being entertained by Orland-Palos' future Scientists.

Receives Citation For Efforts During Brotherhood Week

An award of Brotherhood was presented to Mayor Frank Jeffords, in recognition of the service performed by him for Brotherhood Week in 1957.

It was presented to him by Edward C. Loyd, Illinois chairman of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, for his efforts in bringing the community nearer the goal of the Brotherhood of Man under the Fatherhood of God, the citation states.

During Brotherhood Week, Mayor Jeffords arranged with local churches and organizations to make note of the occasion and carry out the principals of brotherhood.

Our own observance of Easter Sunday reminds us of a new awakening. Personal faith is renewed. We are made peacefully aware of a happier life to come.

Business and Finance

Maurice P. Angland

Investing in "growth" is a basic aim of both individual and institutional investors. But the definition of "growth" is hard to define. Because of this, many shrewd and competent investors are will to pay handsomely for true growth situations.

The first distinction is made among (1) growth industries, (2) growth companies, and (3) growth stocks. Another factor to watch is the kind and quality of growth a company has shown or is expected to show. Is it a growth in sales only, or in earnings as well? Is the growth due mainly to the company's own research and development program or is it possibly due to merger and acquisition of strategic firms.

Another point to watch is whether the growth is in the outcome of new trends in the economy as a whole and of which the particular company is a relatively passive beneficiary. Examples of this are had in a stepped-up rearmament program or a major long term road-building program. Obviously, it is the self-starting and creative company which is the true growth situation.

A distinction to bear in mind in evaluating growth situations is that between past performance and future promise. A new company in a new growth industry may show future promise of growth, but little or no actual past growth. Clearly, the best growth situation is one combining past performance and future promise.

The United States economy is in continued rapid growth in the foreseeable future. Violent fluctuations are now less likely than formerly. These healthy factors are largely due to;

1. The continuing increase in the U.S. population which is expected to rise 40 million in the next 20 years.

2. The emergence of a new large middle class due to the redistribution of national income since the '30's.

3. Higher levels of education and rising standards of consumption.

4. The rapid expansion of industrial research and technology.

5. Large government spending for defense and public works.

If growth companies are carefully selected, much better than average gains are virtually assured. In many growth companies, the dividend pay out is smaller than non-growth companies. However withheld earnings in such growth situations are invested in plant and equipment of the company and compound fairly rapidly.

Growth companies are popular with both institutional and individual investors and, as a result, often have a market price which seems high on the basis of the dividend income and price earning's ratio.

Oil and gas producers have been the top favorites of the large institutional investors. The growth of mechanization is increasing the use of petroleum products in the U.S. at the rate of about 5 per cent annually. Western Europe is increasing its use of petroleum products at the rate of about 12 per cent. This latter is due to slower start on industrialization.

Some of the fast growth companies of the future are likely to be in the fields of atomic energy, natural gas, photosynthesis, plastic packaging, and solar energy. Less spectacular will likely be in metal containers, electric utilities, insurance, petroleum, and chemicals.

VISIT RHEEM PLANT

On March 21, forty Industrial Arts Club boys from L-W and their sponsor, Joe Kruzich, were guests of the Rheem Manufacturing Company of Chicago. The program and tour of the plant was planned by Mr. Jack Houston and Mr. James Krohne, representatives of the company. Mr. Roy Kropp of Mokena made the initial contact for the club.

The Rheem Company manufactures hot water heaters, furnaces, water softeners, oil drums and jet engine containers. During the tour four engineers gave a detailed description of the entire process of production of these items and many good educational values were viewed by the students.

Following the tour of the plant, Rheem was host at a luncheon for the students, sponsor and guest speakers. Mr. O'Donnell, sales promotion and advertising manager gave a short talk about the history of Rheem. He also gave us an insight in how Rheem promotes sales and advertisements.

John K. Dorsey, senior partner of the firm of John T. Dorsey and Sons gave a talk on career opportunities in the plumbing and heating business. He stressed the point that we are only scratching the surface of the problems that are confronting the plumbers. Above all, he stated, one should get competent plumbers to do the plumbing work, because much chaos can come about through bad plumbing.

Rheem provided an atmosphere of friendliness. Their many courtesies shown the L-W students will be remembered for many years. It is thru organizations such as Rheem that many educational values come from field trips for our students.

HONOR SOCIETY INITIATION

The Lincoln-Way chapter of the National Honor Society held their spring initiation on Friday, March 29, in an assembly program. Twelve members from the junior class were initiated during an impressive candle-lighting ceremony. Donna Rae Meyer served as mistress of ceremonies and speeches on the four qualities, Service, Leadership, Ken We and Carol Werner.

The senior members who escorted the new members to their places were Beverly Jones, Virgil Hammond, Beverly Lauffer, Denny Wheeler, Janet Feil, Darlene Wahl, Allan Mager, Shirley Kule, Bruce Damerell, Jeanette Sievert, Ron Knakmuhs, Andree Ledebuhr, LeVerne Mark, and Janet Bauch.

Since there were twenty-six members of the junior class scholastically eligible, the task of selecting the twelve most worthy was not an easy one this year. The selection is made from the sum total of ratings made by every teacher on the staff. Mrs. Della Hussey and Miss Margaret Gentry are sponsors of the organization.

It's the Complications--Not The Measles, That Flattens One

The seriousness of measles lies not so much in the disease itself as in the complications that may develop with it. While the condition still appears in epidemic proportions, fortunately deaths from it, usually in the age group under three, have been greatly reduced, the Educational Committee of the Illinois State Medical Society points out in "Health Talk."

Symptoms of measles usually appear from ten to fourteen days after exposure. Initially they resemble those of the common cold, such as sneezing and coughing, but they also include the appearance of small bluish-white spots surrounded by an inflamed redness in the mouth. These are called Koplik's spots named after the late New York pediatrician who identified them.

The disease is most contagious when the symptoms resembling the common cold are present. This threat is lessened once the rash develops, purplish red in color, appearing first on the face, then the body trunk and on to the legs and arms. Once the rash is in full bloom, so to speak, other symptoms disappear gradually.

Usually one attack of measles renders a person immune for life. There is no protective vaccine against measles, altho there are certain substances that can be given that will minimize the attack, or sometimes prevent its development, if exposure to the disease is a certainty. These substances which are injected are convalescent serum, which is obtained from the blood of patients recently recovered from measles; pooled adult serum which contains certain protective properties found in blood of adults who have had measles; human immune globulin, which is extracted from the placenta or afterbirth, the structure which attaches a newborn baby to his mother, and gamma globulin, which is a by-product of blood secured by blood banks to manufacture blood plasma.

The complications that may develop with or immediately after measles make it a serious disease. They include infections of the eyes, the nose and throat, the bronchial tubes and even of the digestive tract. After the minute virus responsible for measles attacks, other organisms normally present in the body take over. Thus, such germs as the staphylococcus or pneumococcus may launch the respiratory invasion.

Because it is communicable, certain precautions are necessary in the care of the patient with measles. The child must be isolated. All people except the mother or person caring for the child should be kept out of the sickroom. Extreme cleanliness should be observed. All discharges from the sick child's nose and throat should be caught on disposable tissue or cloth and placed in a paper bag pinned to the bed. The bag should be burned, unopened. All washable objects used by the sick child should be boiled in soap and water after each time they are used.

Measles, like any communicable disease, is a reportable disease; that is it is reported to the local and state health departments.

While placarding of the premises is no longer required, all susceptible children in the family are quarantined for two weeks from the day they are first exposed to the disease.

The child with measles can be a very sick youngster, and potentially susceptible to some other complication. If your child has been exposed to measles, don't hesitate, call your physician.

Well-lighted stairs expose danger spots and warn the walker to be careful.

Lewis College Shows Works of German Masters

Dr. Judy Mendels, chairman of the foreign language department at Lewis college, announced last week end that one of the Carl Schurz Foundation's German art exhibits will be on display at the college for the next month. There are 25 colored reproductions of German paintings, representing the Medieval, Renaissance, Romantic, and Modern periods of German painting. Albrecht Durer, Hans Holbein, Carl Spitzweg, and Franz Marc are a few of the more commonly known artists represented.

The Carl Schurz Foundation has its headquarters in the Old Custom House in Philadelphia. It was founded fifty years ago with the purpose of promoting cultural relations between the United States and the German-speaking nations of the world. In addition to art exhibits, the foundation has movies, exhibits, and publishes the semi-monthly German American Review in the English language. The Foundation also gives grants and scholarship to worthy students.

The art exhibit is now on display in the Academic building, the Administration building, and in the cafeteria at Lewis college. Interested persons are invited to view the exhibit. There is no charge involved.

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles prepared by local clergy designed to produce greater church attendance between now and Easter.

My church is composed of persons like me and you. We make it what it is, together. I want my church to be a church according to the mind of Christ.

Whether it will actually be this, depends on me. It will be friendly, if I am friendly. It will do a great work, if I work. It will bring others into its worship and fellowship, if I invite and bring them. With the help of God I dedicate myself to fulfill the high aims set for my church.

"The Answer is God." I shall be steadfast in my devotion.

Thought for the Day

Read Acts 16:25-34. And they (Paul and Silas) said, "Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved, you and your household." (Acts 16:31, RSV.)

Two teen-age Filipino boys, Nas and Conrado, were handed religious census cards to fill in. Across the cards each wrote the word "pagan."

The grandfathers of these boys had been headhunters. As children during the war years, they had lost many of their close relatives. Their god had been a totem pole, and as a result of their experiences they lost faith in any god at all. However, when they heard the message of Christ from evangelist C. L. Spottswood, they gave up everything they had to serve the Master.

As we built a model demonstration farm with the boys, I realized they were seeking the Christian way in their lives. Six months after they had been there, I saw them stand boldly and testify before three thousand of their countrymen that Christ was their Saviour. It took courage and faith for them to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ. They were convinced of His power for them.

PRAYER

O Lord, we often find ourselves lacking in faith even though we know Thee. We thank Thee for the inspiration of seeing converts new in the faith. We thank Thee for the impact they make upon us. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Jesus said, "Joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth."

Palm Sunday in 1920 Was Day Of Tornadoes in Chicago Area

(CNS) Last Thursday marked the 37th anniversary of the most destructive tornadoes ever to sweep across the Chicago area the same day.

On March 28, 1920—a Palm Sunday that year—three tornadoes claimed 28 lives, injured 306, and left a property damage bill exceeding $3 million.

The weather bureau records show at least 13 tornadoes hit the United States that day, with a total loss of life of 163. Most of these deaths were in two tornadoes in Alabama and Georgia.

The most serious locally was the Melrose Park-Wilmette tornado. The black funnel raced 50 miles in one hour, killing 20 persons and injuring 300. It demolished 113 houses and partly wrecked 300 others. Total property loss was set at more than $2 million.

This tornado began about 12:15 p.m. some eight miles south west of Joliet. The tornado cloud lifted before it reached Hinsdale but hit the ground again in Bellwood and Maywood.

In these towns four lives were lost and 20 homes demolished.

The tornado proceeded north-eastward thru Melrose Park and Wilmette to Lake Michigan.

Greatest devastation and loss of life was in Melrose Park where 10 people were killed, 49 injured and 50 houses and one school destroyed.

Another storm, named the Elgin tornado in weather bureau records, killed 8 persons and destroyed at least $1 million of property.

The Elgin tornado formed about 12:05 p.m. near LaFox and moved northeastward thru Elgin to Wauconda with a total path of 30 miles.

Greatest destruction was in the Elgin business district. People were killed at the Grand theatre and the Congregational and Baptist churches. Church services had been dismissed just a few minutes before the storm and most of the congregations had left for their homes.

Almost an hour later another tornado was born in the stormy sky. This was the Clearing tornado.

Ten miles long, it began near W. 79th street and Harlem ave. about 1 p.m. It died less than 4 miles west-southwest of the Loop about 1:15 p.m.

No lives were lost, but six persons were injured. Also, 7 homes and one school were wrecked with property loss of about $150,000.

W. R. Macdowell New Minister of Tinley Church

W. R. Macdowell, Tinley resident for the past two years, became minister of the Tinley Park Church of Christ (Christian church) this week succeeding Walter Leeper, who recently resigned. Before coming to Tinley Park Mr. and Mrs. Macdowell served continuously in pastorates, evangelism and home missionary work more than 30 years.

They are not strangers to church work in the Chicago area having served as ministers of the Orchard St. Christian church in Blue Island from its beginning in 1925 until 1933. They spent five years in home missions work in and near Toronto, Canada, and five years establishing new churches in military areas during the war. They have held pastorates in Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas.

Mr. Macdowell holds degrees from Ohio State university and the School of Religion, Butler university. Mrs. Macdowell is a specialist in Junior age church and Bible school work.

As a Tinley resident Mr. Macdowell has served the local church as choir director, adult Bible teacher and elder.

Mr. Macdowell will continue his association with Berg Construction Company, Inc., general contractors for Parkside houses and large projects in Markham, and will also serve the church until a full time minister is called to the field.

This church, one of the younger churches of Tinley, will observe its fifth anniversary this month. During the four years with a part time ministry it has operated on a self supporting basis and has purchased its buildings on 174th Street and a parsonage on Sayre ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Macdowell live at 16936 Willow Lane drive, two of their married daughters live in the Chicago vicinity and one in Denver, Colo.

Tacked-down stair pads accomplish two purposes: They give the stairway a neater appearance, and they also prevent possible serious falls.

PMA Makes New Deal Intended to Aid Chicago Market Producers

A Pure Milk Association official announced last week that the Association completed negotiations with Chicago Milk Dealers whereby they will agree to pay an additional 20 cents per hundredweight on Class I milk (bottled, fluid milk) March 20 thru June 30 and distribute this additional money to Chicago Market producers thru a "super Pool" arrangement.

The agreement will affect payment to about 20,000 dairy farmers in Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan.

The announcement came from A. L. McWilliams, General Manager, after several days of negotiations and making arrangements for "super pool" administration.

McWilliams said this new arrangement will supersede a PMA announcement made the previous week that it would pay premiums to members on base milk delivered to PMA plants from March 20 thru June 30, financing the premium through an additional 12 cents per hundred weight charge on milk sold from PMA plants to handlers for Class I and II use (bottled fluid milk and cream.)

Under the "super pool" arrangement, handlers are asked to sign a written agreement to pay 20 cents per hundredweight on all milk they purchase either from the Association or from producers delivering to the handlers own plans and which will be used for Class I purposes.

This money will accumulate in a separate fund, "Super Pool" to be administered by an agent, attorney Thomas Gilmore, Chicago. All producers delivering to PMA plants and to plants of handlers agreeing to participate in the "Super Pool", will receive an additional premium payment on the base milk they ship for the period March 20 thru June 30.

THAT HIGH SCHOOL SITE

It has been our hope that the Bremen high school board would be open to suggestion in the selection of a site for a new school in the Tinley Park area but apparently the board has decided to bull it thru on its original line regardless of what it could mean to the township as a whole and the affected school districts in particular.

The high school board has called a meeting for next Monday night at which it hopes to convince voters that its selection of a school site, in the middle of what is designated as industrial area on Tinley's master plan, is a wise one.

The meeting is to be held in Saenger hall, the scene of many gay festivities—social and political.

The board has no real argument in support of its choice of sites. It claims that the lay of the tract is such that it can be developed into a building site with a minimum of grading; that it is the best of any site they have seen and they just like it.

Some suspect that perhaps the board's principal reason for clinging to this site is that it can be purchased on the installment plan.

The Bremen high school board, like all other school boards and other taxing bodies in the township is suffering from lack of funds. Bremen township has no industry and as a result farm and home owners have to bear the entire tax load. This is a heavy burden.

The equalized assessed valuation of Bremen township for 1956—on which the tax bills that are to be paid this year are based—is $54,891,780.

Engineers consulted by Tinley Park Associates say that industrial development of the area from the Rock Island tracks south to 183rd street and approximately six blocks in width will have an equalized assessed valuation of approximately $110,000,000, or twice the present total valuation for the entire township.

The high school board apparently would toss this out the window for the sake of having its own way. The board, of course, has indicated on several occasions that it does not believe Tinley will get any industry, a view completely opposite that of engineers and other experts, but says that in the event it does it would be willing to sell the site. That is easier said than done. To do this the board would have to get approval from the people thru a referendum. And if approval was granted then the property would have to be sold at auction, to the highest bidder.

Locating a school on 175th street, where the board plans, would prevent the industrial development of the area, according to those involved in such undertaking.

It would take 11,000 homes having an equalized assessed valuation of $10,000 each—and that is a lot of valuation for even a better than average home—to equal the equalized valuation of the proposed industrial development and that folks, is quite a number of homes.

The simplest solution of the matter as it stands now is for the voters to go to the polls on April 13 and vote NO on approval of the site.

Such action is likely to save property owners considerable money and in time make for better schools.

"Y" Announces Winners in Gym Class Contests

The Palos-Orland YMCA has announced the winners in the contest conducted among the boys and girls who have been attending its gymnasium classes.

The contest began the first week in January and ended March 15. The classes were conducted in the village hall at Palos Park, the consolidated school at Palos Park, the primary school unit and the Orland Park grade school. Seventy one boys and 41 girls participated.

Winners in the girls' division: Lillian Schellhase, Palos Park; Marilyn Fisher, Orland Park and Karen Gronquist, Palos Heights. Winners in the boys' division: Bruce Hyink, Ray Heniff, Edward Johnson and Gary Schneider, all of Palos Park and David Johnson, Orland Park.

Each winner will receive a trophy and each of the participants will receive jacket patch.

In picking the winners those in charge of the contest used the following scoring system: getting a new member for the "Y", five points; attendance, having the proper gym clothes and being on the winning side, three points each; being a winning individual, two points; being on time, having clean gym clothing and being on a losing side, one point each. And three points were deducted for misbehavior.

The gym classes are continuing at the various places. Program activities will take a change to blend with the season change. There is the plan that the YMCA will be able to develop some instructions in golf, tennis and archery for boys and

Louise Katurek, 80, Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Louise Katurek, 80, who had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Wendell B. (Herta) Hamilton for the past 16 years, died suddenly in her home late Friday afternoon, March 29. She was well loved by the neighbor children as well as their parents, to whom she often extended a helping hand.

Born in Germany, the former Louise Krieger, came to this country in 1902 and settled in Chicago. She was united in marriage with Mr. Katurek 45 years ago, who passed away in 1947 and since that time she has made her home with her daughter. For many years Mrs. Katurek conducted a millinery store in Chicago.

Surviving beside Mrs. Hamilton is another daughter, Mrs. Louise McCann and two grandchildren.

Private funeral services were held in the Blood and Grant funeral home in Joliet, according to her wishes, Saturday, with the Rev. James G. Franz, of the Central Presbyterian church officiating.

LINCOLN ESTATES

The Ann Rutledge PTA of Lincoln Estates will meet Monday, April 8 at 7:30 pm. in the school.

The 7th and 8th grade pupils, under the direction of Lloyd Alton, will present the program which will include two plays, "Feudin' Mountain Boys" and "Wildcat Willie gets Brain Fever."

During the business meeting the new officers will be installed. They are Mrs. Walter Niedringhaus, president; Lloyd Alton vice president; Mrs. Donald Seates, secretary and Mrs. Geo. Chapman, treasurer.

Gustave Fink, 81 Former Resident of Frankfort, Dies

Gustave Fink, 81, native of Frankfort, and brother of Christian Fink and Mrs. Fred Klepper, both of Frankfort, died in St. James hospital, Chicago Heights, Sunday following a short illness.

He lived in Frankfort until 32 years ago when he moved to Chicago Heights. He was a carpenter and on March 1, he and his wife Christina celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary.

Surviving beside the above, are two daughters, Mrs. Hubert Nordstrom, Lansing, Mich.; and Mrs. Zettle Hauck, and a son, Gustave, both of Chicago Heights.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon in the West End Funeral home in Chicago Heights with burial made in the Monee cemetery.

The nation is short 160,000 classrooms for public school students, according to a recent study.

County Board Gives O.K. to Road Projects

Work on the base for Francis road between Cedar road and Mokena is scheduled to begin as soon as weather permits. The contract was let last fall by the county good roads committee and right of way obtained. Work on state aid route 38-A at Marley may also get under way this spring.

This work will be paid for out of the county's share of the state motor fuel tax. No bids have been asked yet for black-topping the section between Cedar and Gougar roads but County Highway Engineer James McCarthy said that this might be done next year.

When Francis road is surfaced there will be a paved route from Tinley Park to the outskirts of Joliet. Truck traffic on Route 30 and Route 6 hinders travel between Mokena and Joliet, it was pointed out.

At a meeting of the Will county board last week a resolution was adopted extending 38A and another adopted to remove from state aid a proposed route leading north to U. S. Route 6, east of Marley.

That is the route that was suggested to give Marley an outlet to Route 6 instead of following 38-A straight west from the church to Route 6. That is the present outlet but it is narrow and travel is further handicapped by the presence of a temporary, one lane bridge that spans the creek just west of the Wash tracks. One of the reasons for suggesting the route running north out of Marley was to save the cost of building a new bridge. Some additional right of way will be required for Route 38-A, McCarthy said. The state requires right of way 80 feet in width.

A base for North Cedar road, from U. S. 6 north to Route 7, a distance of three and a half miles, has been approved by the county board in a resolution concurring in the award of a state highway department of a contract for federal aid secondary routes.

The county pays for half of this work with the federal government taking up the rest of the cost. The county's payment comes from motor fuel tax money that already had been set aside.

be made with the state to locate the lift station that will be a necessary part of the system on highway right-of-way so the village will be spared the expense of buying a site for it.

The village board granted a building permit to Chester Ebert to erect a storage tank for liquid fertilizer on the firms property south of the Rock Island tracks.

The board also adopted an ordinance vacating an alley that had never been used as such. The alley borders the George Rinke property at 287 Front st.

D. F. Davis, an official of the Northern Illinois Gas Co., who was at the meeting, made the request that anyone who does excavating in the village be sure to contact the gas company first to learn the location of the gas mains. Breaking a main can be dangerous.

Judges and clerks were named for the coming village election, April 16.

Albert Cappel, Fred Steinhagen and Mrs. Florence Pitman will serve as judges. The clerks named are, August Werner, Mrs. Joseph Klingner and Charles Teague.

Trustee David McMillan presided at Tuesday's session of the board in the absence of Mayor John Scarth.

Salvation Army to Hold Doughnut Day on June 14

The Salvation Army has been given permission by the Village to hold the annual doughnut day in Tinley Park on Friday, June 14.

In Cook County a total of $39,369.40 was collected last year they revealed, which was used to provide services for 160,000 individuals. Also, that 20 per cent of the Doughnut Day collections are left in each community to be used for disaster purposes.

The United Cerebral Palsy Association of Chicago will conduct a fund raising drive in Tinley Park on May 14.

Money collected is used to help victims of this disease, thru treatment and training, become as self reliant as possible.

Burglars Get $120 At Mokena Grade School

Burglars broke into the Mokena grade school on Carpenter street last week-end and made off with approximately $120.

The money was taken from desks in various rooms, the largest amount having been $80 which had been accumulated to defray the expense of a field trip for pupils at the end of the school year. The other amounts represented milk fund money.

The thief or thieves used a jimmy to gain entrance and employed the instrument in entering the various rooms and opening the desks. Sheriff's deputies investigated.

Presses Wrong Button--Flooded With Firemen

When Glenn Reiter, 21, of Lockport came to Mokena Monday night to appear before Police Magistrate John Balaz on a traffic charge, he had not planned on making a production number out of his entry in court.

He had been told to come to the village hall. He did, but found the doors closed. He tried the door into the board room and found it locked, but the big overhead door remained. Seeing a button at the side of the door Reiter thought that pressing it would open the door.

So he pressed. That was when he discovered the button was intended to set off the fire siren and that the door gave opening to the engine house.

Reiter was accompanied by a companion. Before he pressed the button they were alone. Two minutes later they found themselves in the midst of a crowd of firemen. Reiter was embarrassed but explained and apologized.

Then Magistrate Balaz arrived and held court. Reiter was fined $10 and costs for driving too fast in a school zone. He was arrested a couple of weeks ago.

Realtor Suggests Autos as Good Source for Subsidizing CTA

Gen. Lafeton Whitney, chairman of the Parking and Transportation Committee of the Chicago Real Estate Board, called a meeting of civic groups to discuss plans for opposing granting the Chicago Transit Authority power to tax property to subsidize the deficits of CTA. The meeting was held in the Realtors club, 105 W. Madison st.

Harry W. Gahagan, co-chairman of the transportation committee who presided at the meeting, claimed that there would be no end to the burden placed upon real estate if CTA was empowered to tax property to subsidize its deficits.

In New York, the transit system subsidy amounts to about $100 millions per year. "Is this what Chicago wants by giving CTA taxing power?" asked Mr. Gahagan. "This is nothing more than a tax grab and we Realtors are going to oppose any such legislation."

"Recent studies in Milwaukee and Chicago have a lesson which we must not overlook in our study of the CTA situation," he continued. "In Milwaukee private automobiles are taxed about $6½ millions per year. The cost of street repairs and maintenance amount to $25 millions. On the basis of the Milwaukee study automobiles are subsidized $18½ millions or about $84 per car per year."

In the Chicago study, it showed that the taxes per car amount to $28. The cost of street repairs and maintenance per car runs $118, or a subsidy of $90 per car," Mr. Gahagan reported, adding that it is apparent that there are great benefits provided to private automobiles thru property taxes and other revenue sources.

With regard to automobiles, Mr. Gahagan pointed out, street parking should not be overlooked. In 1956 there were over 870,000 cars registered in Chicago. According to authoritative reports there is covered parking space for about 35% of the number of cars registered in Chicago. It is estimated that there are about 15% of the number of cars parked in open lots. This leaves about 435,000 cars which must park in the streets.

Street parking, claimed Mr. Gahagan, is hazardous to police, fire protection and traffic. If such car owners must use public property then they should pay a reasonable rental for the privilege, he continued. At an average cost of $10 per month to park a car, a $2 per month street parking charge would not be out of line, Gahagan said. On the basis of 435,000 cars, this would produce about $10½ millions. These funds, claimed Mr. Gahagan, would go a long way to give relief to CTA.

In concluding his report to the 20 civic organizations present, Mr. Gahagan recommended that each organization alert their members to the grave implications involved in what he described as the CTA tax grab. He recommended that each organization and their members contact their representative and senator in Springfield to oppose any legislation giving CTA taxing powers over real estate.
